Argentina

Argentina is a vast country with a relatively small population and a culture based on agriculture and the cattle breeding of the Gauchos. The strong multi-European heritage is present throughout the country, especially in the cosmopolitan capital Buenos Aires, and remains a source of great pride to all Argentineans.

Landscape

Stretching 3,460km from north to south, to the east of the Andes, Argentina embraces subtropical rainforests, desert in the north, the flat pampa, and windswept Patagonia, where granite massifs rise out of the earth and brilliant glaciers are reflected in still, icy lakes.

Culture

Home of the tango and gauchos, the strong European links are clear upon arrival in Buenos Aires, a cosmopolitan metropolis with architecture and stylish street cafés, reminiscent of Paris. Argentina is famed for its beef, a centre-stage ingredient of the traditional parrillada (barbecue).

Wildlife

Depending on the season, a whole wealth of wildlife can be observed at close range on the Península Valdés. Whales make their annual visits, as do penguins (some 2 millions during the peak season), elephant seals, sea lions and their lethal predator, the killer whale. Also present are guanacos, foxes, rheas, armadillos, and a wide array of birds including the burrowing owl, petrel and albatross.

WILDLIFE, GLACIERS & PATAGONIA

The Perito Moreno Glacier reaches the opposite bank for a perfect vantage point, Days 10-12.

Argentina promises wildly differing landscapes, from tropical rainforest at the magnificent Iguazu falls, to the icy waters of the Beagle Channel in Tierra del Fuego, and the mighty glaciers of Southern Patagonia. The mountain chain of the Andes provides a breathtaking terrain for exploring the great outdoors and observing a wealth of flora and fauna, especially in the Lake District.

Days 1-4 Depart on an overnight flight direct to Buenos Aires known as the 'Paris of South America'. Transfer to the hotel, staying for three nights. Afternoon guided tour of the city, visiting the artistic and brightly decorated houses of La Boca, the historic 'Casa Rosada' Presidential Palace and admiring the architecture, wide avenue, cafes and parks. Enjoy one of the famous Tango Shows with dinner, great music and superb dancers. (B) Days 5-6 A morning flight to the immense Iguazú Falls, set in tropical rainforest where walkways take us over the numerous falls which make up this great natural wonder. Birds and butterflies abound in the lush forest surroundings. We stay for two nights with a full day tour to walk the trails on the Argentinean side and cross the border to Brazil for a stunning panoramic view of the waterfalls. (B)

ARGENTINA

Buenos Aires is the archetypal Latin American city, with a European twist. Its people are deeply Latin: exuberant, energetic and passionate, and nowhere is that more apparent than in their favourite dance, the Tango. The city, lovingly redesigned in the French style at the turn of the century, still merits its title "the Paris of South America". What was once the Mecca of arts and music in the Americas later went into decline, and this sense of romanticism and faded grandeur makes it a fascinating place to soak up the ambience of a city that seems to exist in a world all of its own.

Alvear Palace Hotel Deluxe Legado Mitico First Boutique Regal Pacific First

Built in 1932 and recently renovated, this is arguably the most elegant deluxe hotel in Buenos Aires and is located in the heart of La Recoleta, surrounded by excellent restaurants and shops. Decorated in Louis XVI style, its 100 spacious rooms and 95 suites feature WiFi, personal butler, a basket of fruit and flowers daily and cable TV. There are two restaurants and the "Jardin D'Hiver" serves afternoon tea.

Legado Mitico is a beautiful, boutique hotel in the trendy, bohemian quarter of Palermo Viejo, ideal for those who seek the authentic and sophisticated side of Buenos Aires. It feels homely, comfortable and stylish, with living room, dining room and only eleven rooms, each individually decorated with art and antique furniture in a classic style with modern touches.

The Regal Pacific hotel offers excellent value and location, close to the trendy Puerto Madero restaurants and a short walk from Recoleta, the main avenue and shopping district. The hotel has comfortable executive style rooms with modern interiors, amenities and luxurious bedding. There is also an outdoor swimming pool and sun terrace for 'al fresco' dining.

This boutique hotel is located in the heart of Palermo Soho, metres from Plaza Julio Cortazar and many other touristic points and the Plaza de Mayo. With strong Thai

A comfortable hotel situated in the heart of the Barrio Norte within walking distance of exclusive shops off the Santa Fe and 9 de Julio avenues. All 162 spacious rooms have private facilities, minibar, air conditioning and modern amenities. There is 24 hour room service, restaurant and bar.

COUNTRY ESTANCIAS

web veloso.com/estancias

Dotted around the vast pampas are a number of delightful estancias with country houses that retain the elegance and charm of a bygone age, combined with the gaucho life of a working, cattle breeding ranch. The houses tend to be surrounded by parkland with lawns, big trees and a pool. Here you can relax, go horseriding, walk, watch gauchos at work or play polo and enjoy the tender meat of a mouthwatering barbecue.

Estancia La Bamba Deluxe

Estancia La Bamba de Areco is located close to the Pampa town of San Antonio de Areco with typical bar/restaurant, main square and the lifestyle of the Argentinian countryside. The property is essentially a country lodge and a gorgeous and romantic estancia. The original building opened in 1830 as a stagecoach stop along what had once been the old Camino Real, linking Buenos Aires with other colonial cities. The buildings are Pompeian red with white trim, contrasting with the surrounding green landscape. The estancia accommodates 20 guests, and the social areas include a leisure room with TV and a swimming pool. Guests can experience the hacienda lifestyle through horse riding, walks, drives in carriages, bird watching, golf/tennis (8km. away) and lunch 'al fresco' under the trees. Guided tours to the village of San Antonio de Areco, Museum and Ricardo Güiraldes Creole Park can be provided at an extra cost. All meals are included.

Typical Argentine grilled meat "Parrillada"

La Escondida is a working ranch located in the heart of the Pampa. The wonderful hosting family breed polo ponies and cattle, speak English perfectly and are delighted to show you gaucho life. The house faces a small lake and is surrounded by woodland. Its rooms have private facilities, a courtyard, sitting and dining room, veranda, pool and activities include walking, horseriding and birdwatching.

Additional Hotels available: Bellavista Vista De Guerrero, La Isolina, El Ombu de Areco and Polo playing and tuition at Puesto Viejo.

The gardens house 24 sculptures by renowned artists. The restaurant serves award winning cuisine and there is a cocktail bar, health club and massage spa.

Estancias in the Lake District

Estancia Tres Lagos is a 10,000 hectare estate in Lanín National Park, amidst idyllic Andean scenery of snow-covered peaks, three glistening lakes, lush meadows and clear mountain streams. There are around 500 head of cattle, sheep, deer and over 70 horses suitable for both experienced riders and novices. Estancia Huechahue has 6000 hectares in the dry Pampa, terraces for alfafa to feed the cattle, a small lake and houses are surrounded by tall trees. Great for walking and horseriding or taking a Cabalgata horseriding trek with the gauchos, camping for days in the wild. Accommodation & Walking Both Estancias have cabins with comfortable beds, private facilities, central heating or wood fire, that are located close to the main house where your hosts of British descent, offer excellent hospitality and serve delicious home-made food and grilled meat in the traditional Argentinean Asado. Horseriding & 'Cabalgata' treks You can take daily horse riding excursions staying at the estancias. Cabalgata treks involve going out camping with a guide and a team of helpers who prepare the horses, set up camp and cook all meals.

Mendoza

Located at the foot of the Andes in Central Argentina, Mendoza is a charming city surrounded by the country's premier wine-producing region. ## IGUAZÚ FALLS (web veloso.com/iguazu

Aerial view of Iguazu Falls

ARGENTINA

The Iguazú Falls are a truly extraordinary sight : Vast torrents of water thunder over a natural fault in more than 250 separate cascades to create an awe-inspiring spectacle. The Brazilian side offers a panoramic view while the Argentine side has three long walks on wooden walkways which take you through the forest, and above and below the waterfalls. Both sides have boat trips for an exhilarating, close-up (and very wet) experience. It is best to explore both sides of the falls, and take time to see the falls from all sides, and learn about the rainforest ecosystem, its flora and fauna.

Puerto Valle Lodge

Located 55km from Posadas, Puerto Valle is easily accessible while standing on the edges of both the Iberá wetlands and the Paraná River. All 13 rooms are spacious, with private facilities and views of the river. The restaurant uses ingredients grown in the organic garden, and there is also a library and drawing room for relaxing. Activities include boat trips on the river and wetlands, as well as horse riding and forest walks on the property.

La Cantera Lodge Tourist Sheraton Hotel First

Located in the forest outside of the town of Puerto Iguazú, and 15 minutes from the falls, La Cantera Jugle Lodge has rooms distributed in a series of bungalows connected by raised walkways. The rooms are spacious and well appointed, with a balcony looking out into the forest as well as private facilities and air conditioning. The hotel has a restaurant and a swimming pool with a terrace area for relaxing.

Set within the Iguazú National Park, the Sheraton hotel is a large building with spectacular views of the falls. Half of the rooms face towards the falls, and the other half face the rainforest behind the hotel. Its location within the Park gives guests priviliged access to the trails around the falls. The hotel has two restaurants and lounges, a swimming pool which shares the stunning views of the falls, a fitness centre and sauna.

Additional Hotels: Das Cataratas (Brazil), Panoramic Iguazu, Iguazu Gran Casino, Esturion, Loisuites, Yacutinga, Aguape Lodge

Iberá Wetlands & Jesuit Missions

The Iberá Natural Reserve is the largest protected area in Argentina, a mix of swamps and lagoons which makes up the second largest wetlands in South America. Fed only by rainwater, the swamps are shallow and full of vegetation, providing a habitat for a huge array of wildlife. The boat excursions often go in search of marshland deer, maned wolf, caiman, otters, and many species of birds. The nearest airport is Posadas.

In the 17th Century the Jesuits established peaceful settlements of Guaraní Indians in an effort to convert them to Catholicism, educate and protect them from Portuguese slave hunters. The ruins of these missions, restored to show the European architecture and ornate stonework of the churches and cloisters, are spectacular evidence of this colonial history.

Península Valdés

The coastline of Peninsula Valdes is home to a remarkable variety of wildlife. Each year, Southern right whales come between June and December to breed, particularly in October and November, joining elephant seals, sea lions, Magellanic penguins and occasionally Killer whales. There are also large numbers of seabirds such as petrels, albatrosses and cormorants. All this incredible wildlife can be admired during boat trips into the bay, or walking excursions on the peninsula. The main town, Puerto Madryn, has a variety of accommodation, while the closest airport is in Trelew in Welsh Patagonia.

Salta travelling along Route 9 flanked by abundant subtropical vegetation. Overnight in Salta. (B)

Perito Moreno Glacier

Perito Moreno Glacier is located 80 kilometres from Calafate on the road to Los Glaciares National Park. The first part of the journey crosses barren Patagonian steppe, but on reaching the national park the vegetation changes abruptly into forest dotted with shrubs and occasionally, the intense red of the notro, the typical flower of the Andean Patagonia. Los Glacieres National Park was created in 1937 to preserve an area of continental icefields and glaciers, declared a World Heritage Monument by UNESCO in 1981. The main attraction is

Glaciers & Lakes Cruise

Depart from Calafate to Puerto Banderas, boarding a state of the art vessel to cruise on Lago Argentino, in Los Glaciares National Park. Sail on the lake, reaching the magnificent Upsala Glacier, the largest glacier in the region, some nine kilometres wide and 50 km long, fed by numerous tributaries from the southern continental icefield. Enter the Upsala channel navigating among giant icebergs, and sail around the 6km long front and observe its 60m high walls. We sail past the Spegazzini Glacier, standing on a tranquil part of the lake, with beech trees to one side and ice-covered mountains to the other. In the afternoon return to the hotel.

the Perito Moreno glacier, slowly eroding a valley between two hills on the side of a long narrow lake, so that the opposite bank is an ideal position to stand on land and view the glacier close to the massive front, measuring some five kilometres in width and 60 metres in height. At times the glacier reaches the opposite bank of the lake and blocks the flow of water so you can watch the water break the ice. The sight of huge pieces of ice breaking off with a roar, then floating away as icebergs is truly unforgettable.

and Fitz Roy in Los Glaciares National

EL CHALTEN & FITZROY

Trekking at Fitzroy

From a scenic point of view Los Glaciares is one of the most impressive national parks in South America. The vast reserve that protects around 2,300 square miles of Patagonian Andes includes more than 40 major glaciers. The northern section of the park is dominated by the world-famous Fitzroy Massif, which rises 6,000 feet from the glaciers at its base. The mountains around the tiny village of El Chalten make it an essential stop-off for adventurous travellers. A variety of walks of different durations and degrees of difficulty are possible from here.
